

Changchog Services for the Deceased

Dear Members and Friends,

Living in this world of existence, every one of us experiences the fear and sorrow of losing our beloved ones, one time or another. That sad feeling and memories of the deceased haunt our heart. We traditionally gather together with our family members before the Lunar New Year begins, during Ching Ming Celebration and during the Seventh Month Hungry Ghost Festival to pay respect to our beloved deceased ones. In these three occasions, we visit places where our deceased ashes are kept. We visit columbarium, temples and cemeteries; cleanse the place; recall past memories; make offerings or pay respect to them.

In the Buddhist fraternity, from the skilful means of the Mantrayana system, The Buddha had showed us through the Maha Variocana Tantra, the wonderful effect of the Changchog services when performed for the deceased. Impregnated with love and compassion, this ritual liberates all deceased from their suffering consequences to higher rebirth and happiness. Such noble and effective services of the Vajrayana have not been widely practised here.

For the sake of our members and friends, and all Dharma Brothers and Sisters, our Centre commits to bring such noble services for the benefit of the deceased and the family members during these three occasions. Well qualified Ritual Master and monks will be performing these services which when done perfectly, deliver enormous benefits to the deceased. This will be the most meaningful and virtuous activities that we can offer to our beloved ones who had passed away.

We encourage all to spread the good news of the 3 Changchog services that are available in our Centre.
